Weighty Series Of Meetings Planned By Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower is planning an important round of conferences with Republican leaders in New York next week before leaving for Korea, associates said today.

These associates, who asked not to be named, said the conferees may include Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate

Dodge To Help Draft Budget

Holds Meeting With
Truman's Director

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower's financial representative, Detroit banker Joseph Dodge, met today with Budget Director Frederick J. Lawton, but told reporters he would not try to influence the size or nature of the budget now being prepared.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph M. Dodge, advance agent of the Eisenhower administration in Washington, came to town today to sit in on councils drafting next year's federal budget.

He arranged an informal, for-noon meeting with President Truman's budget director, Frederick J. Lawton.

All indications were that prospects are dim—at least in the eyes of present officials—for any big, early cuts in the federal spending program.

In fact, these officials said, a backlog of funds, plans and contracts, difficult to change now, point toward a new spending budget well above the 79 billion dollars charted for this fiscal year, ending June 30.

They add that new appropriations can be reduced, however, paving the way for substantial reductions in the outpouring of government dollars by late 1954.

Dodge, 61, is a Detroit bank president who has been decorated by President Truman for his services as financial adviser in post-war Germany and Japan. He also is a Republican and former financial adviser on government affairs to Dwight D. Eisenhower, who will replace Truman in the White House Jan. 20.

His appointment by the President-elect to serve as a personal

Rep. Curtis Asks Probe In Draft Methods

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) has requested an investigation of the Army's draft methods in protest to the induction of "an ordinary citizen" who had a broken back while baseball star Mickey Mantle was rejected.

Curtis, in a statement released here yesterday, said he had asked for an inquiry into the "consistency of the Army's system in a letter to the Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr."

The Missouri congressman did not identify the inductee who had suffered the back injury other than to say he was a St. Louis man drafted last January and now serving at a New Jersey Army base. And while referring to much publicized Mantle case, Curtis said he was not criticizing the young New York Yankee centerfielder.

"He probably took his chances with the draft like anybody else," said Curtis.

The 21-year-old Mantle was rejected only recently after a long series of draft examinations. He was found to have a chronic knee injury.

Mantle is married and is supporting his widowed mother, three brothers and a sister.

GOP policy committee, and Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, in line to head the Senate Foreign Relations Committee when the Republicans take over control of Congress in January.

Eisenhower, vacationing at the Augusta National Golf Club, plans to head for New York Sunday or Monday.

He will confer the early part of the week at the White House with President Truman, who has invited the general to sit in at a discussion of international and domestic problems facing the new Republican administration.

Aides of the President-elect said he wants to talk over such matters first with GOP congressional leaders but may switch signals, go to the White House first, and meet with them later in the week.

Wiley, attending the United Nations General Assembly in New York as a U. S. delegate, said yesterday that Eisenhower has asked him to a meeting two weeks hence for a discussion of American foreign policy.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, confirmed here that Eisenhower had extended an invitation to Wiley. But Hagerty hinted the get-together is booked for next week, rather than the following week.

Other sources said a full-scale meeting of GOP congressional leaders is in prospect. They added that those present may include

Editors Stress Press Freedom

250 Newsmen Attend
Meeting In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Americans need to be continually reminded that a free people must have the right to get the facts about their government and to publish them without fear of "savage and unfair reprisal."

That premise was laid down today by J. Russell Wiggins of the Washington, D. C. Post at the annual meeting of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association opening a four-day session in the Sheraton-Plaza Hotel.

Some 250 AP editors from all parts of the nation are attending the sessions which are analyzing the AP's methods of handling news.

Wiggins, chairman of the APME Committee on Freedom of Information, added these rights:

"To publish them (government facts) without prior restraint or censorship;

"Access to facilities for disseminating these facts; and

"To distribute these facts to others."

The Washington editor declared a "courageous, enlightened and informed press is the most effective instrument for obtaining these rights."

"Newspaper men must carry to this fight the best available information on the long struggle to establish and maintain access to the transactions of government indispensable to a democratic people."

"This association has been and can be of some help in this struggle. It is not a fight, however, that can be won at any one time or in any one place."

"It must be prosecuted every time the right to know is challenged and in every place that it is obstructed."

Wiggins criticized military authorities for "postponing publication of casualties 'of military or civilian employees of the defense establishment in the zone of the interior in time of peace."

"The practice of the defense establishment of deferring for 12 hours beyond the notification of next of kin of victims of accidents, he said, 'is a unilateral assertion of the right to withhold information.'"

Leaders Of CIO Begin To Chart Union's Future

Strategists Ponder
Postponement Of
Convention Nov. 17

BULLETIN
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The vice presidents of the CIO today recommended a postponement of the group's 14th annual convention from Monday, Nov. 17 to Monday, Dec. 1 because of the death of CIO president Philip Murray.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Strategy-making vice presidents of the CIO closeted themselves in a hotel today to chart the future of the big six million member union.

Saddened by the death of CIO president Philip Murray, the nine CIO vice presidents met with Alan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president.

Counsel, department heads and various experts accompanied the group into the meeting room. There was little comment available at the meeting's start but CIO vice president James B. Carey, who also heads the International Union of Electric Workers, said:

"We'll have something to say around noon."

The meeting is the first important CIO session without the guiding hand of Murray who died Sunday in San Francisco while arranging for the annual CIO convention in Los Angeles Nov. 17.

The immediate question which the nine vice presidents must decide is whether to postpone the convention. Then they will take up the problem of how to go about naming a successor to their esteemed president.

There is little likelihood the convention will be held as scheduled. However, top union lieutenants have given indication they want the business at hand cleaned up by the end of the year.

The Executive Board of the 1½-million-member CIO United Auto Workers already is on record favoring postponement of the convention. The board said the resolution is out of respect to Murray.

Walter P. Reuther, president of the auto workers, one of the possible choices as Murray's successor, brought the recommendation to Pittsburgh for consideration.

Indications are the convention will be moved to the East and held up for a couple of weeks—a month at the longest.

The vice presidents' decision will

New Skin Graft Aid Seen For Burn Sufferers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — New Skin sprinkled from a salt shaker to cover burns is a prospect raised today in a report to the National Academy of Science.

The skin would be quick-frozen, dried under a vacuum, then powdered and stored under vacuum. But the skin would remain alive, able to provide a living cover as a first step in skin-grafting over severe burns.

Blood vessels or other human spare parts might also be kept alive, intact, for years by the same freezing and drying.

The possibility is foreseen in success in freeze-drying influenza virus and other tissues, and finding it still alive some time later.

This work was described by Dr. Donald Greiff, professor of biology at St. Louis University. He used a specially-built apparatus to freeze the virus or tissue with dry ice and acetone, and dry it under low pressure to vaporize the liquid. Cooperating in the project are Drs. Henry Pinkerton, Herman Blumenthal and Masahiro Chiga.

Glycerine is a second possibility for suspended animation of living tissues kept in cold storage. It can act like an anti-freeze to preserve frozen tissues, said Drs. B. J. Luyet and P. M. Gehenio of St. Louis University.

Bathing live tissues in glycerine seems to prevent death by preventing formation of a large amount of ice crystals in tissues when they are frozen, the scientists said.

Fulbright Says Stevenson Can Build Up Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas said today the Democratic party ought to be rebuilt from the ground up and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson is the man to head the job.

Fulbright, who served in Stevenson's unsuccessful presidential campaign headquarters, told a reporter he does not go along with suggestions that Stevenson be appointed by President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to the U. S. United Nations delegation or asked to take on any other federal job.

"I think Stevenson should maintain an independent status and be ready, perhaps along about March, to begin speaking for the opposition on issues raised by the Republicans," the Arkansas senator said.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, scheduled to become minority leader in the Republican-controlled Senate said in a separate interview that the defeated Democratic presidential nominee ought to become the party's general spokesman.

As to party setbacks in the campaign, Fulbright said he believes the Democratic organization in New York and Chicago need rebuilding. He said he thinks Stevenson could learn much about how to do it by studying the organization which turned out a large majority for the Democratic nominee in Philadelphia.

"What we need in the party is young blood, new faces and new ideas," Fulbright declared.

Driver Dies As Car Hits Bridge

Paul L. Pike Victim Of Rogers Mishap

Paul Lester Pike, 27, of Rogers was killed almost instantly at 12:15 a.m. today when his car smashed into a concrete bridge abutment on the Rogers-Signal Rd., just west of Rogers.

His death was caused by numerous head and body injuries.

State Highway Patrolmen reported that Pike was pinned in the wreckage of his car for approximately an hour before his body could be extricated. No skid marks were visible on the pavement and patrolmen theorized that the car was traveling at a high rate of speed when it hit the bridge railing.

Mr. Pike had attended the American Legion dinner in Lisbon and was on his way home when the mishap occurred.

He was born May 2, 1925 in Elkrun Township, a son of Gail and Bessie Pike. He was an upholsterer for the Franklin Furniture Co. of Columbiana. He belonged to the Clarkson Presbyterian Church, Clarkson Grange, the Lisbon post of the American Legion and the V.F.W. of Columbiana.

He was a Marine machine gunner in the Pacific during World War II.

Survivors include his mother at the home, three sisters, Mrs. Wilma Burns of Rogers, Mrs. Myrtle Walters of Clarkson and Mrs. Dorothy Yeager of Columbiana; one brother, Manuel of Rogers. His father, a brother and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Warrick Funeral Home in Columbiana, with Rev. George Ramsey, pastor of the Clarkson Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment will be in East Carmel Cemetery near Rogers.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

2 Senators Urge U. N. To Purge Itself Of Spies

McCarran And Smith
Also Suggest Ouster
From U. S. As Move

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Nations should either help purge itself of "spies and saboteurs" or get out of the United States, say two members of the U. S. Senate Internal Security Committee.

One of the two senators is the committee chairman, Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), who says he also thinks Trygve Lie resigned as U. N. secretary general because "of disclosures made and disclosures we will make in the future."

The senators search for suspected American Communists on the U. N. headquarters staff was resumed yesterday. Lie's resignation on the previous day served to embellish the committees already dramatic hearings.

McCarran, here for the first time in four weeks of intermittent sessions, and Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC) composed a subcommittee which heard three more American U. N. employees refuse to answer some questions concerning Communist party membership.

A fourth witness said earlier she switched her citizenship from American to Russian simply by obtaining a Russian passport. She is Olga Michka, 33, an American-born U. N. clerk and typist.

A State Department official in Washington said later he did not think she automatically lost her American citizenship when she received the Russian passport.

Smith, angry at the attitude of some witnesses, snapped at the close of the all-day hearing that it is up to the U. N. "to help us purge it of spies and saboteurs."

If that cannot be done, he said, the U. N. "ought not to be allowed to sit in America."

"Senator, added McCarran, 'I agree with you heartily.'

After the hearing had adjourned until today, McCarran told newsmen he believed his committees inquiry had brought about Lie's announcement of resignation on Monday.

McCarran said Lie's statement of reasons for quitting reminded him of a Thanksgiving pumpkin. "It looked good," said McCarran, "but it was hollow."

Lie said on Monday he was resigning "because I hope this may help the United Nations to save the peace and to serve better the cause of freedom and progress for all mankind."

2 Hooded Men Beat, Threaten Newspaperman

TUPELO, Miss. (AP) — A 26-year-old newsmen and his pretty blonde wife, under constant police guard, prepared to leave here today a few hours ahead of a 6 p.m. ultimatum set by two hooded men.

Newell Anderson, circulation manager of the Tupelo Journal, decided to return to Fargo in his native North Dakota. He told police the men took him for a wild ride in the country Monday night and roughed him up and that one of the men said he "didn't like Yankees around."

George McLean, publisher of the Journal, said Anderson began getting anonymous telephone calls more than two weeks ago telling him, "we don't like foreigners coming in here and you'd better get out of town."

Anderson and his 21-year-old wife came here Oct. 1 from Grand Forks, N.D., where he had worked on the Grand Forks Herald. They were married there last June.

D. B. Crockett, chief of police in this Northeast Mississippi town of 15,000, said he had some clues but could not disclose them now.

"After he (Anderson) leaves, I think it'll blow over," Crockett said.

Anderson said he was unable to identify the men who roughed him up. He said they wore gauze-like hoods of dark material with no eyeholes.

Triangle Hill, Sniper Ridge Crests Regained

South Koreans Fail
To Throw Reds Off
Yoke, Vital Point

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean infantrymen stormed back to recapture three strategic heights on Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill in long, bloody battles today.

Tonight they threw back two 150-man Red jabs at allied positions on sniper—one in 40 minutes of hand to hand fighting in the flare of huge allied searchlights.

But they failed to throw Chinese Communists off the Yoke, a maze of tunnels and caves at the northern end of Sniper which has been the key to firm control of the important ridge.

AP war correspondent John Randolph, reporting from the blazing Central Front, said Republic of Korea (ROK) troops regained all the ground they lost to furious Red artillery-supported assaults Tuesday night.

That included:

Pinpoint Hill, dominant height on Sniper Ridge, retaken by a five-hour infantry assault preceded by an hour-long artillery barrage.

Rocky Point, highest peak on Little Finger Ridge, as well as most of the rest of that ridge.

Jane Russell Hill, on the northeast edge of Triangle, recaptured in a counter attack that began at dawn. Two Red companies—350 men—wrested the twin peaks from the Allies Tuesday night.

Once they had secured the crest of Pinpoint, elements of three ROK regiments drove northward against the Yoke, taking part of it in a blast-them-out, burn-them-out battle against entrenched Reds.

But the South Koreans were forced to withdraw before dark. The Yoke is a virtually impregnable redoubt at night.

Firm Allied control of Sniper Ridge has been impossible with the Yoke's tunnels and caves in the hands of the Reds. It was from those underground caverns that Chinese reinforcements poured today at the height of the battle for Pinpoint.

The South Koreans had been pushed off Pinpoint, dominating height on Sniper Ridge, Tuesday night by 1,500 screaming Chinese foot soldiers. The Red assault was powered by one of the fiercest Red artillery barrages of the war. It was the 13th time in 29 days that the Reds had taken the hill from United Nations forces.

Probers To Get Report On Red Orbit Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. William Standley, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow, tells House investigators today how Soviet Russia began building an arc of pro-Communist states around Eastern Europe in 1943.

The admiral heads a top-level group of witnesses appearing before a special committee investigating the massacre of 15,000 Polish officers and intellectuals at Katyn Forest, Western Russia, early in World War II.

The committee has reported to Congress that Russian secret police committed the murders to prepare for a pro-Communist Poland. It is now trying to determine whether news of Russian guilt was suppressed by American officials to avoid disrupting wartime relations with the Soviets.

Standley, ambassador to Moscow from 1941 to 1943, reported in a series of secret documents that Russia was preparing the corridor of barrier states now behind the Iron Curtain.

TV Shows Lack New Knox School Replaces 5 Little Red School Houses Originality, Bishop States

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has "too little originality and too much imitation," says Bishop Fulton J. Sheen.

The Roman Catholic prelate, who has a video program of his own, takes a critical view of TV programming in an article written for Television Magazine.

"One quiz program begets a dozen; panels multiply like rabbits; get rich quick programs increase like the taxes," he writes.

"Some panel shows are like university professors who have nothing original to give the students, so they bring in books and read from each of them in turn. The result is that knowledge passes from the lips of the professors to the note books of the students without passing through the minds of either."

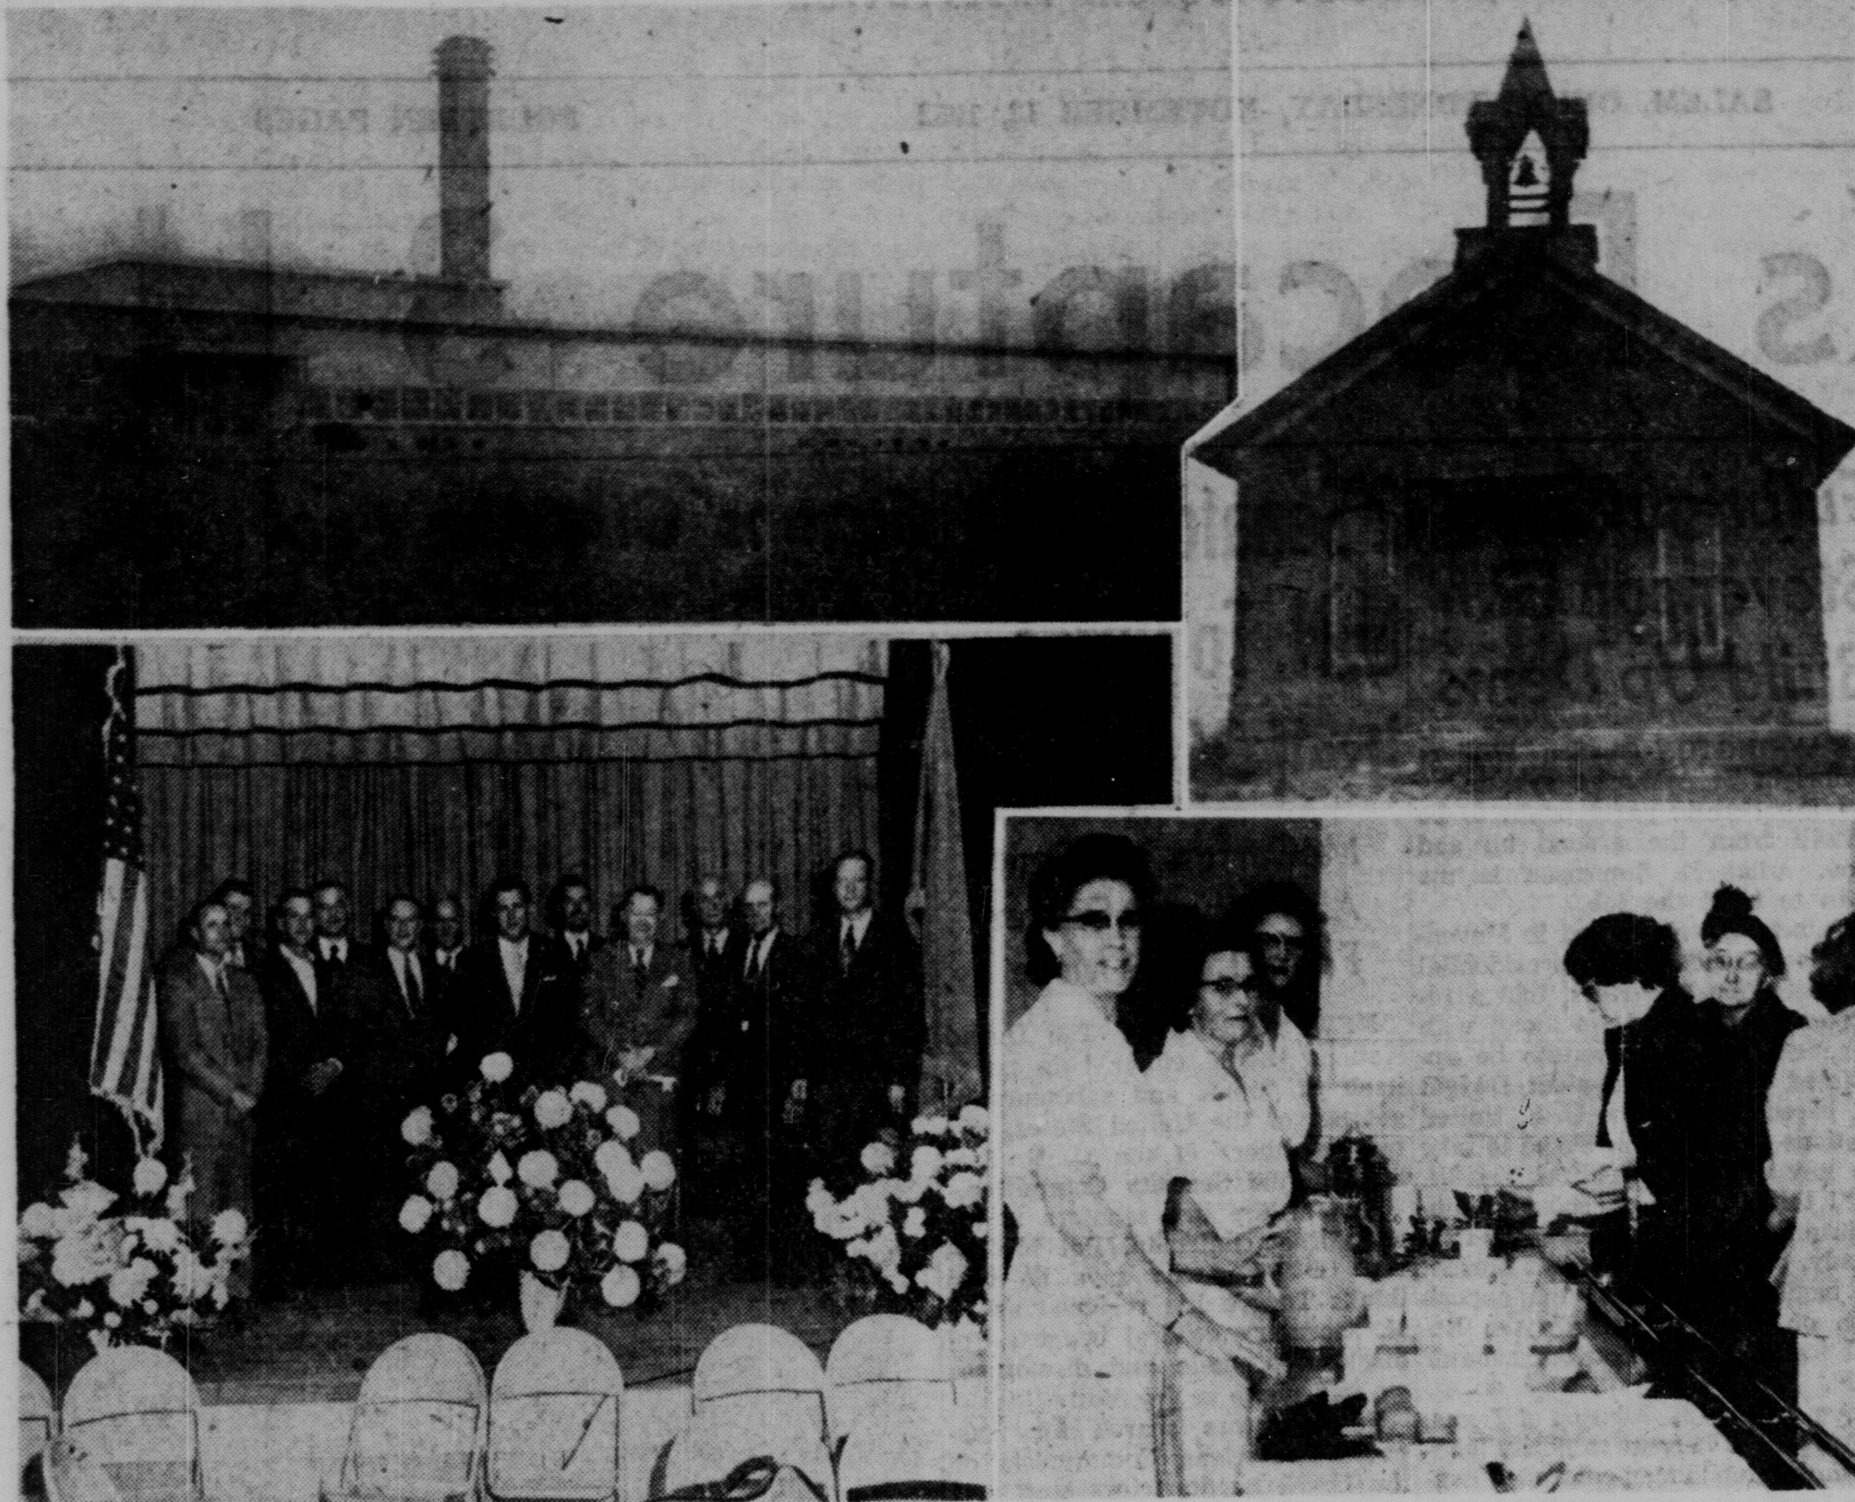

In suggesting two types of programs the public would like, he said "the public wants to learn" and "it wants conviction."

On the first type, he said, "man is not a working beaver; he is a thinking biped."

"He wants not only to improve his health," Bishop Sheen continued, "but also to improve his mind."

"Granted this, television will grow in age and wisdom when it brings to the public programs by learned men who understand their subject so well they can explain it to those who know nothing about it."

Alger Hiss Eligible For Parole Nov. 21

LEWISBURG, PA. (AP)—Alger Hiss, serving a five-year prison term here for perjury, may hear within two or three weeks whether he will be paroled.

Hiss becomes eligible for parole on Nov. 21 when he will have completed one-third of his term at the Northeastern Federal Penitentiary.

Dr. George G. Killinger, chairman of the U. S. Parole Board, today began interviews of prisoners applying for parole. He said, however, there was no chance of reaching Hiss' case today.

"I will interview Hiss personally by tomorrow or Friday," Killinger told a newsman.

Killinger said transcripts of all parole interviews will be sent to Washington for consideration by the full five-member board. To win a parole, the application must be approved by three of the five board members.

Hiss, 47-year old former State Department official, was convicted of perjury in 1950 on the basis of his sworn testimony that he never gave government secrets to Whit-taker Chambers, admitted one-time courier for Communist spy ring.

AEC Announcement On H-Bomb Expected

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission says it will have an announcement, apparently soon, in connection with snow balling reports the first American hydrogen bomb has been exploded in the South Pacific.

Vivid eye-witness accounts of a purported "hell" bomb blast—some said it virtually sank an Eniwetok Island—have been received in uncensored letters from U. S. sailors to friends in this country.

An AEC spokesman said yesterday "we will make an announcement" as soon as the current series of atomic tests is concluded. Until then, he said, "we will have absolutely no comment."

Previously, AEC officials had indicated that for security reasons it might be years before anything would be made public about the new bomb.

Descriptions of the recent explosion—H-bomb or super atomic—agree that it was an awesome thing.

Radio Programs Hurt Reds, Says Ike

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower says Communist attacks on Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia prove the networks "are hurting the Reds and giving comfort and encouragement to oppressed people."

Eisenhower and his unsuccessful Democratic opponent in the recent presidential campaign, Adlai E. Stevenson, delivered recorded radio addresses Tuesday night endorsing the 1952 Crusade for Freedom. Their talks were carried by the NBC, CBS, MBS and ABC networks.

Both Eisenhower and Stevenson said the effectiveness of the crusade's radio programs beamed to the Soviet satellite countries in Europe and the Communist-threatened areas of Asia was reflected in sharp Communist reaction.

Korea War Issue No. 1 Problem

Up To Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP)—As the presidential campaign moved into its final weeks, the Republicans made the Korean War their No. 1 issue. Democratic blundering, the Republicans said, led to — and prolonged — the war.

"I shall go to Korea," Dwight D. Eisenhower said, and seek an early and honorable end to the fighting.

A cheap attempt to play politics with peace, the Democrats replied. Who was right and who was wrong isn't so important now. What is important is this: The No. 1 issue now turns into the No. 1 problem for the new administration.

And the battle lines in Korea, and the political battle lines in the United Nations, are so drawn that neither side seems in position to score a convincing breakthrough.

The diplomatic stalemate has been illustrated again this week in arguments before the United Nations.

The dispute now is over the 121,000 prisoners of war held by the U. N. forces. Should these prisoners of war be turned over to the North Koreans even if they don't want to go?

(It should be remembered that even if this problem is settled there's no guarantee that another won't bob up immediately to take its place.)

Andrei V. Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister, gave his country's oft-stated view Monday. It was, yes, they must be turned back, Russia, he said, will not budge on this issue.

Yesterday Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, gave his country's oft-stated view. It was, no, the prisoners of war should have a choice. "After an armistice," Eden said, "a prisoner of war may not be either forcibly detained or forcibly repatriated."

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, speaking in London, came up with a more vivid picture.

"It would be dishonor," Churchill said, "to send thousands of helpless prisoners of war back by force to be massacred by the Chinese government, which boasts it has actually rid itself of two millions of its own people."

The U. N. stalemate was emphasized further by the resignation of Trygve Lie, its secretary general. Lie long had been in the Soviet doghouse because he called the North Korean invasion a Communist aggression.

He said he hoped his resignation would help the UN save the peace. But since the U. S., Russia, Britain, France and Nationalist China must agree on a successor — at a time when they haven't been able to agree on the time of day — Lie's hope looks like a long shot bet.

Whether Eisenhower will pick up anything in Korea that may lead to a solution of his No. 1 problem remains to be seen.

But the man on the spot, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, has said he's sure the trip will help the president-elect.

"Red Tide" Kills Fish Off Florida

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Fears were expressed today that a new "red tide" has returned to Gulf of Mexico waters off the Southwest Florida Coast, bringing death to millions of fish.

The "red tide" infestation took a heavy toll of fish in these waters a few years ago. Scientists said it apparently was caused by an organism in the gills.

Shrimp boat skippers returning from Dry Tortugas and Campeche, Mexico, reported the dead fish from 70 miles out all the way to Fort Myers beach.

"They were packed solid 10 miles out," said Capt. Gordon Ford of the shrimp boat Lucky Star. "We first started seeing them about 70 miles out. They got thicker as we made it to 20 and at 10 miles we were really pushing through them."

Anna Rosenberg Talks With Gen. Mark Clark

TOKYO (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg arrived by air this afternoon and almost immediately conferred with United Nations Commander Gen. Mark Clark.

Mrs. Rosenberg had just completed a six day tour in Korea. She said her two strongest recommendations to Washington would be for a further buildup of the South Korean Army and adequate replacements to maintain the U. S. Army's rotation rate.

Two Convicts Killed In Mexico Prison Break

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico, (AP)—Two convicts were killed by machinegun fire yesterday in an attempted break by 34 criminals from the Chiapas State Penitentiary here, in the southeast corner of Mexico.

The other 32 freedom-seekers surrendered or were captured.

The prisoners left the penitentiary through a hole they had bored in a three-foot masonry wall but were trapped in an adjacent cornfield surrounded by barbed wire.

'Wired Man' Takes Vital Farm Role, Rotarians Told

As the farmer prospers, so prospers the urban dweller.

This was the theme of a talk to Rotary Club members Tuesday by C. K. Kline of the Ohio State University agriculture department, who pointed out the advancements made on the farm by the means of rural electrification.

The speaker, who also is associated with the Ohio Farm Electric Council, predicted that by 1960 agriculture will be using as much electricity as the steel industry.

"The wired man is replacing the hired man on the farm," Mr. Kline said, "with more productivity."

Electricity makes possible the operation of farm water systems, such as are offered in Salem by the Deming Company, thereby saving on labor and aiding crops and livestock.

Walter Deming was program chairman. T. A. Mercer, rural electrification representative of the Ohio Edison Co., was a guest.

F. D. R.'s Daughter Wed To Physician

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, only daughter of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Dr. James A. Halsted, 47, were married yesterday.

Attending the Unitarian ceremony at the bridegroom's ranch in the Malibu Mountains were the bride's mother and two brothers, James and Elliott Roosevelt.

The couple will reside in Dr. Halsted's home on the grounds of the Veterans Hospital, West Los Angeles. He is a staff physician there and a clinical professor of medicine at the University of California at Los Angeles.

It was the third marriage for the 46-year-old bride. Her previous husbands were Curtis B. Dall and the late John Boettiger. Dr. Halsted, 47, previously was wed to Mrs. Isabella Hopkinson Halsted, now of Milton, Mass.

15 Million In Nation Have Ulcers, Is Claim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than 15 million persons in the United States have had stomach ulcers or will have them before they die, Dr. Milford O. Rouse, Dallas, said today.

In an address prepared for delivery at the 46th annual convention of the Southern Medical Association, Dr. Rouse said that figure represented about 10 per cent of the population.

Doctor Hits At Using Of Unknown Medicines

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A doctor told the convention of General Practitioners that doctors have arrived at the point "where we are prescribing too much medicine and doing it despite the fact we know too little about the stuff we prescribe and even less about the bodies we are treating."

Dr. William H. Gordon, Lubbock, Tex., heart specialist, made the observation yesterday. He said also that over-exploitation of medicines is increasing unreasonably the cost of medical care.

"I am convinced that all cold vaccines are worthless," Dr. Gordon said. "A large tobacco company recently proved that its employees had fewer colds when given shots of pure water than when given cold shots."

Stevenson On Vacation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson defeated Democratic presidential candidate, starts a five day vacation in Arizona today.

The vacation spot is the ranch of Richard Jenkins, an old friend, at Sasabe, Ariz., about 60 miles south of Tucson.

Excavations in the Near East indicate that men may first have begun to live in villages about 10,000 B.C.

No Money To Buy Efficiency

There are about 2,000 jobs in the federal government which will change hands as the result of Dwight Eisenhower's election. They represent the policy group of federal government. The make-or-break group in the administration.

Eisenhower's problem is how to find good officials who can be drawn into public service. Many of the key jobs to be filled pay less than the income expectancy of a high-grade artisan. In a few instances, chiefly cabinet posts, the relatively low pay is offset by public prestige. But as many men who have withdrawn from government posts have pointed out, prestige cannot be eaten.

In positions with no particular prestige attached, financial sacrifice of government service bars potential public servants whose obligation to look after their own families is more important than the obligation to help their country.

Disclosure during the presidential campaign by Gov. Stevenson that he had made public posts in Illinois more attractive with supplementary pay provided by individuals pointed up a grave threat to government efficiency. The threat is far greater in Washington than it is in Springfield.

The whole structure of pay rates for federal officials, with the exception of the judiciary, is proving to be a handicap to good government.

It plagued Franklin Roosevelt. It plagued Harry Truman. He was turned down by 30 citizens before Michael DiSalle consented to go to Washington temporarily as OPS administrator.

It will plague Dwight Eisenhower and should be removed as an unnecessary handicap to good government.

Citizen Of The World

Trygve Lie's trouble in his United Nations role as "first citizen of the world" is typical of the trouble which plagues the United Nations, itself.

Lie, first secretary general of the United Nations, could satisfy neither the red gaffdies of the Kremlin nor the anti-red gaffdies of Washington. They stung him to the quick.

His resignation, which he hopes may appease both his critics in Russia and the United States, will accomplish nothing, except to take him out of the international squeeze. It sounds like the decision of a tired man whose buoyancy has been pressed out of him by too much diversity too long endured.

The United Nations now has the task of finding a replacement who can take abuse without yielding to the impulse to hand it back. Trygve Lie set a fine example; he was long-suffering, but he finally had taken all he could bear.

If the United Nations survives, monuments will be erected to its first secretary general. If it finally is destroyed by the bad faith of its members, Trygve Lie will be as little remembered as the first secretary general of the League of Nations, Sir Eric Drummond.

Cabinet Caliber

One of the first things Dwight Eisenhower can do for the presidency is restore faith in the caliber of the men who serve in the presidential cabinet.

The man in the White House has been given authority by a majority of voters. But the voters cannot give him a monopoly of intelligence, or executive ability.

That was one of Franklin Roosevelt's weaknesses—that he wanted to be chief executive and all his cabinet officers simultaneously. He surrounded himself with men who either lived in his shadow or were forced to return to private life before they compromised their personal principles.

Except for a few men like Frank Knox, Henry L. Stimson, James V. Forrestal and Robert P. Patterson, who were given responsibility for military administration, there have been few strong personalities in Washington for the past 20 years.

Doak, Schwellenbach, Wallace, Wickard, Anderson, Krug, Perkins, Hannegan, Biddle, Swanson, Dern, Morgenthau, Stettinius, Woodin . . . the names of those who came and went are numerous and obscure.

That was not so much the fault of the people who served obscurely as the fault of the person who asked them to serve that way.

Under Mr. Truman, according to his own admission, it finally became virtually impossible to persuade outstanding men to accept federal appointments. That came close to being an admission that the government had been dominated by second raters—and even worse in the case of the Department of Justice.

The first overt sign of a new attitude in government will be an Eisenhower cabinet of respected Americans who will be expected to use their known capabilities to broaden the base of what has been narrowed down to something dangerously close to one-man government.

Music is like medicine, says a doctor. We'll agree that some of it on TV and radio is hard to take.

Myths Dispelled

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Pollsters Missed Chance; Editors Real Experts

Some questions the presidential campaign stirred up have been answered by evidence—not ballots. What about the errors of the pollsters? What of the behavior of the so-called "one-party" press? What of the judgment of editors generally on political conditions in their community?

It is clear now that the public-opinion polls will have their greatest value in the future if they avoid making any inferences or deductions themselves from the raw evidence they gather. Their proper role is assembling data—not making predictions.

Thus instead of trying to allocate the vote of those who were undecided and noncommittal, the polls might better have made no allocations of their own whatsoever but instead might have supplied the reasons for noncommittal attitudes.

It isn't essential for them to get a numerical percentage figure for the nation as a whole.

If the poll organizations had done a few surveys of the reasons for increased registration in normally Republican states or if they had made a study of the resentment attitudes of voters in cities and in farm districts, they would have doubtless furnished scientific information which would have been more valuable to the political writers, political managers and others who can make their own inferences from the evidence than were the numerical totals.

Likewise they should have made more surveys state by state instead of giving national figures that mix North and South.

Incidentally, the editors of America—the men who have been mangled by President Truman as having no knowledge of their communities—have shown themselves to be better experts on the news side than he thought they were.

Of all the forecasts in actual number of electoral votes made about the outcome of the campaign, the editors themselves did the best job. The 1,150 editors who answered a questionnaire from this correspondent came up with 357 electoral votes for Eisenhower—which certainly indicated a landslide.

This is because an editor knows his own city and state, for he or his reporters are in everyday contact with the politicians and the community leaders.

It has always been true that local conditions properly sized up in one part of a state can have a bearing on a state result when compared with the way things are shaping up in other parts of a given state.

The editors had better collective judgment than the public-opinion experts had in the polls.

As for the "one-party" press fallacy, the truth is that the criticism made by President Truman and Gov. Stevenson was a shrewd move to get better publicity on the news pages during the campaign.

Editorial consciousness of the prob-

by creating among editors an art-

Anyone who knows the speed with which newspapers are made up every day realizes that there never is time to get out a yardstick and measure just how many inches the Democrats and the Republicans have been given in each edition. It just doesn't work that way.

The ingenuity of each political campaign manager and his publicity staff and the kind of news they create each day has more to do than any other factor with the way news stories come over the press association wires.

Some days it is one side that gets the news "breaks" and sometime it is the other side. When the campaign is over, if a measuring job is done, it will be found that the quantities of type lines tend to balance each other.

This correspondent remembers a bitter controversy in 1912 between the partisans of Speaker Champ Clark and those of Woodrow Wilson in the days preceding the Democratic National Convention.

The spokesmen for Clark thought the Associated Press had given more wire space to Wilson. A count was made and it was found that the millions of words carried about both candidates divided almost evenly. This, of course, was a happenstance—it wasn't deliberately planned.

Time and again during the campaign just ended the Stevenson side of the story, especially on the radio, often got far better attention from the newscasters than Eisenhower did but only on those days when the Republican candidate wasn't making speeches or his colleagues on the firing line were not quick enough with their comebacks when sensational points were being raised.

Speaking of a "one-party" press—which, of course, means editorial preponderance for the Republicans—there is no danger in it provided the news columns are fair to both sides.

This was the case by and large in the recent campaign with some few exceptions that proved the rule.

Editors know they have subscribers from both parties and they have long ago become aware of the importance of printing the news dispatches as they flow in rather than trying to carry on a clinic of technical measurement before they go to press.

Mr. Truman never once made mention of the fact that the Democrats have had a "one-party press" of their own in the labor-united newspapers with many millions of circulation.

These publications have been filled for years with anti-employer hate and during the campaign they were so partisan in both their news and editorial columns that they might as well have been published by the Democratic National Committee.

A Few More Years

By TRUMAN TWILL

It will take only a few more years before the march of history leaves Armistice Day far behind.

This year's observance of what started out as a great holiday away back there in the twenties left no room for doubt that the occasion had lost its meaning. Only a handful remembered.

Those of us who had the privilege of sharing the original celebration of that blessed release from anxiety which came on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of 1918 are left with our memories.

They are shared by millions of Europeans who also believe the tide of conquest by arms had been turned by the German retreat across the Marne, the Argonne attack, the breaking of the Hindenburg line and the collapse of the Central Powers.

But they are obscured by new anxieties which dwarf those that loomed so large in World War I. If Armistice Day continues, it will be observed in a new spirit—perhaps a spirit of contrition for the shattered visions of men who dreamed more than was good for them.

There was a war to end wars and to make the world safe for democracy. There was an American expeditionary force to prove that the new world could save the old world from itself.

There was a war to topple thrones and monarchs, because they were sources of evil. There was a Treaty of Versailles and a League of Nations. There was to have been a restoration of good will, a repayment of loans made to victorious allies and a sound investment of capital in the rebuilding of defeated enemies.

Then things started to go wrong. Bright hopes burned into dull ashes of despondency. Nothing turned out the way it had been planned. The armistice which was to have been prolonged into a permanent peace remained only an armistice—a period in which both sides count their dead.

The armistice finally ended. World War II began. When World War II ended, there were no bright hopes rekindled. No room for hope had been left in the world. Even the new League of Nations in its new location was undertaken without benefit of hope—only grim misgivings about what would surely happen if it failed.

There will be no more Armistice Days of the kind there used to be in the twenties. There have been no Armistice Days like that for many years. The symbolic volley and the sound of taps have been drowned out by blockbusters, atomic bombs and the shrill cries of propagandists.

No one can take away the symbolic glory of those heroes of 1917, when Americans marched to the strains of "Over There" and rested to the plaintive melody of "Long, Long Trail." But the glory has been obliterated for those who came later by the tread of the millions of feet which have marched war since 1917 and are marching now in the snow of Korea.

The war to end war was fought and won a long time ago.

The most encouraging thing about children is that they're likely to grow up to be an improvement over their parents.

The Issue Remains War

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The United States is spending $56,000,000,000 on war this year; all of Western Europe, including Great Britain, is to spend $12,000,000,000 in addition.

The United States is presenting to the Western European countries, $6,000,000,000.

The figures, in no way, represent all the costs of the preparation for war. Into those figures have to go inflation of prices and the economic dislocation of every country in the Western world, which becomes a Soviet weapon of war.

The greater the dislocation, the sooner what the Russians call the "crisis" will hit the Western countries, particularly the United States.

THE UNITED STATES thinks of war and peace in terms of conventional arms, conventional diplomatic relations and conventional treaties.

Soviet Russia only employs the conventional when it is useful; it invents new means of achieving an objective, no matter how abhorrent to the rest of the world, when such devices serve its purposes.

Thus the "crisis" is a device of war. It is a means of achieving the destruction of a people's will to resist without the enemy firing a shot in a war.

In Soviet theory, the "crisis" can achieve this end at no cost to Russia, the objective enemy even paying for his own destruction. Such a diabolical idea is altogether feasible.

THE BRITISH are at this moment going through a "crisis," the result of which could be that the successor to Winston Churchill may be Aneurin Bevan, a Marxist whose position is, at present, more Titoist than Stalinist; that is, he would accept much of the Soviet system but without sacrificing nationalism, and at a slower pace. The distinction is less important than it sounds.

I believe it was Prof. Karl Wittfogel who once put it, "If it walks like a duck, quacks like a duck, looks like a duck, it is a duck."

THE "CRISIS" used to be a simple depression in the economy of a nation; now it is a device to bleed a country white by forcing it into the state of permanent war—by forcing upon it the cost of maintaining a state of war in a period of actual peace.

For instance, the United States regards itself at peace now; yet it has about 3,500,000 men under arms; it is actually fighting a war in Korea; it is involved in warlike efforts in Europe, Africa and Asia.

Its budget is based upon a wartime military expenditure and the taxes of the people are on that basis too.

The Marshall Plan was designed to gain allies for the United States in this permanent war by a form of international bribery.

THE MARSHALL PLAN failed because neither the United States nor our allies grasped what is now beyond doubt true that Soviet Russia viewed the Marshall Plan as an essential aid to Russia for the following reasons:

1. The cost of the Marshall Plan would weigh heavily upon the American economy and therefore would bring on the "crisis" in due course.

2. The stimulation of Western European industry would revive a strong desire for normal East-

West trade in Europe, and would therefore give to Soviet Russia and her satellites access to American goods which otherwise could not be available.

3. The Western Powers, as they prospered, would tend to revive ancient jealousies among them, particularly if Great Britain sought to restore a political and economic hegemony over Europe;

4. Ultimately the European powers would turn against the United States, as a result of European prosperity, because the United States cannot absorb the productivity of cheap European labor without increasing unemployment in the United States;

5. Thus far, since 1930, the United States has found no formula for its unemployment problem except war and the preparation of war; therefore, the "crisis" must come to the United States because war is actually more costly and debilitating than unemployment, although not as unpopular.

THIS HAS BEEN Russian guiding reasoning for many years. The United States has not developed a counter-policy, but has met immediate challenges by spontaneous reactions.

This, the Marshall-Acheson method, is now generally accepted as bankrupt and was not defended in any important manner by the Democrats during the campaign.

It is this policy which requires immediate revision, accompanied by a decision to wrest the initiative from Soviet Russia.

It will take a Talleyrand or a Disraeli to accomplish this; yet, less than that can be fatal.

French Reds' Drive Flops

By GAULT MacGOWAN

Moscow's fifth column in France—which has long directed the activities of American Communists—is on the defensive today, following the election of their biggest individual enemy—Dwight D. Eisenhower—as President of the United States.

Fear, akin to panic, has been discernible in their headquarters, behind the famous Church of the Madeleine here, since the announcement that more than 31,000,000 Americans had put him in power, with a House and Senate to back him.

They fear that one of his first acts will be to urge the NATO nations to suppress the national Communist partisans in their midst who are acting as the agents of the Kremlin.

The full force of the hate America press to the new president's Rhineland ancestry is seized upon by the Communist evening newspaper Ce Soir to insinuate his intention to parallel Hitler's Berlin-Rome Axis, with the equivalent from Washington to Bonn.

This paper states, in parenthesis—"The new president has often expressed his pride to be of German origin."

Nothing is said of the fact that his forebears left Germany more than 200 years ago to escape religious persecution. The intention is to make him out to be more pro-German than pro-French, and thus play on French fears of German rearmament.

His planned flight to Korea has infuriated the French Politburo, which still is waging its campaign to make Americans the villains of the peninsular warfare.

Ce Soir says: "The intention of the general is not to go to Korea to facilitate a Pacific solution, but to study the possibility of a military one."

The Communist party line still is that the U. S. Army is conducting bacteriological warfare in Korea and the anti-Eisenhower addition is that he will authorize use of the atomic bomb, carry the war into China and re-establish the regime of Chiang Kai-shek.

The French Politburo, however, is fighting a losing battle, despite its wealthy propaganda machine.

France is said to produce 418 different kinds of cheese—and the 5,000,000 Communist voters in the nation split up into almost as many different types.

Many groups of them fought with Eisenhower as partisans in the war for the liberation of France and they just refuse to "hate Ike" personally.

Frenchmen, on the whole, are too intelligent to accept a lie as truth, just because it is repeated by the Red propagandists, over and over again.

The Politburo is twitted with starting the propaganda "Ike Go Home"—he went home, with devastating results for the Reds and Russians.

Andre Marty, the veteran revolutionist, who has been living the life of Reilly for years over here and is now in disgrace, shakes the view that the Red leaders here have missed the boat through their pusillanimity, dickered for the middle-class vote and parliamentary combinations in vain bids for power.

Gen. Eisenhower's message to the French people, immediately after his election, took a lot of wind from Politburo sails. The average Frenchman and woman were flattered that the new president's first thought in the foreign field should have been of them. Diplomatic circles described it as a "shrewd and timely move" and removed any doubts of the "Eisenhower adaptability to international political niceties."

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

After Election

To Adlai Stevenson: It wasn't as bad as it seemed. No Democrat could have won. In fact, it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

The voters hated to do it to you, Adlai. You struck them as a high-type citizen, a gentleman, a gracious guy and a fellow with plenty of charm and ability. It was just your bad luck to be the nominee in one of those years when the people are fed up with a party, its long run, its policies, its stubbornness and some of its characters. No Democrat could have made the White House in the 1952 election, even with mirrors, magic wands and ukelele music.

"This Way Out!" was the national mood completely eclipsing, "You Never Had It So Good." I think you knew it all the time.

In most of your speeches before the nomination and after there was something of the "Why did it have to be me?" mood. But you put up a gallant fight, kept it light, made a lot of friends and proved a whale of a good loser. Happy New Year!

To President Truman: The folks did everything to you but break up your piano, but they admit you have your points and that they include guts, determination, and a rather admirable cockiness. Whatever your future may be, you will be more popular with millions than you were when president.

Most Americans see in you a little of themselves, their Uncle Abner, a well-meaning neighbor, the head man of the local Rotary Club and a good friend of any man, up to the time he turns Republican.

You were president during an extra rough trip on the Ship of State and if you blew your top, whipped up a few weird letters, started your own S.O.B. Club, got extra violent when rubbed the wrong way and yelled "Liar!" "Red berring" and "Snollygoster" when others got the evidence in first, how many people don't?

Your chief trouble was that you zigged when you should have zagged, and took that 1948 rescue trip by whistle stop too seriously.

But you were a battler all the way. There was no "chicken" in you. When you got good and sore it was a case of "Jennie, bar the door!" Those beach costumes were a little too loud, too, and you were never extra convincing when fishing in the Gulf Stream or joining Indian tribes.

When you first took office you were a humble man and admitted it, but you outgrew the mood too fast, which is a common weakness.

Your biggest error was putting yourself willingly into public mind as a man who could put his arm around another man, tell him you would help him get anything he wanted and then treat him like the big bad wolf-treated grandma.

However, the country will forgive and forget. It wishes you lots of luck. And it hopes you and Bess will be happy despite everything.

Nothing could be much more absurd than the Maryland coach's charge that Yale made it easy for a certain football star to enter the college. It is an established fact that not even Prof. Einstein could get into Yale without passing the severest scholarship tests, even if he were a triple-threat football player, a no-hit pitcher and the athlete of the year.

General Electric says it is possible for human beings to see 500,000 different colors. Especially if they were on Democratic tickets last week.

Bill Benton, it seems to us, lost a lot of votes through a program on which he exploited himself too much in Connecticut.

A lot of politicians now concede that indorsement by the entertainment world can be the kiss of death.

A highlight of the campaign was the great sportsmanship of Bob Taft all the way.

We know a fellow who says he wants to see that new movie "Way of a Groucho."

The administration took the controls off brooms a few days before the election and, judging by the result, it was an awful mistake.

Good sportsmanship is the post-election mood and we hear that even Truman is playing "Come On-a My House" on the White House piano as Republicans pass by.

How could Jim Farley have been so wrong? . . . It was almost as if Ike had given an order, "Take no prisoners. . . . John Kieran called the election result the new Emancipation Proclamation.

The election left no doubt about one point: Most Americans are for an all-out war against Communism. . . . When the Republicans take over the White House, two selections for the brass band have already been chosen, "It's Been a Long, Long Time," and "After You're Gone."

Speakers Address Members Of Salem Historical Society

A biographical sketch of the life of the late John Deming and the 143-year history of the Salem Baptist Church were presented to members of the Salem Historical Society Monday evening in the public library.

Miss Estelle Mayerhofer outlined the life of her grandfather, Mr. Deming, one of Salem's leading industrialists and founder of the Deming Co. She related how John Deming first came to Salem to attend an anti-slavery meeting and met here his future wife, Angelina Sarah Bown of Pittsburgh.

The couple lived in Pittsburgh prior to coming to Salem where they resided on a farm east of the Lisbon Rd. He was a carpenter, operated a grocery here, and later was associated with his father-in-law, B. E. Bown, in the candy-making business in Cincinnati.

After selling out the candy business at the death of Mr. Bown, Mr. Deming came back to Salem and added the Deming name to the partnership of the Dole and Silver firm. In 1890 John Deming, his sons, William L. Deming and W. F. Deming, his daughter, Miss May Deming with William Strong Deming of New Lyme, and others formed the Deming Co. John Deming died Jan. 10, 1894.

Miss May Deming, who married William W. Mulford, is the only one living of the seven children of John Deming. The Deming family lived in different houses in town. One, at High Street at Ellsworth was built by a Quaker carpenter who was said to have been the original of Harriet Beecher Stowe's character in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

The First Baptist Church history from 1809 to 1952 was read by Milton H. Critchfield, a member of the church. He told how three years after the first settlers established themselves on territory which later became the "City of Salem," the first followers of the Baptist faith settled here.

Mr. Critchfield showed how the early history of Salem was tied in with the early history of the Baptist Church and he told how the present new edifice of the church came to be built following the disastrous fire in the church April 5, 1947. The new building was dedicated Sunday, April 2, 1950.

President Roy Harris presided at the meeting when announcement was made that the estate of Joseph Stratton has left 230 jugs of antique vintage to members of the Salem Historical Society.

Members discussed securing suitable club rooms and a place to house all of the historical items they have collected. The next meeting will be Dec. 8 in the public library.

Area Couple Is Married In Homeworth

Rev. Donald McGarrah, pastor of the Homeworth Presbyterian Church, officiated at the single ring ceremony Sunday afternoon when Miss Marjorie Swindell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Swindell of the Homeworth Rd., became the bride of Harold Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roberts of Columbiana.

The bride's ballerina length dress of white lace over satin was complemented with a fingertip veil. She carried white pompons centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Norman Humphrey, her sister's matron of honor, wore a changeable maroon taffeta dress and carried yellow pompons. Earl Roberts served his brother as best man. Norman Humphrey and Carol Roberts were ushers. John Humphrey, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Hoffman.

The mother of the bride wore a wine colored dress and corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore navy blue with a pink carnation corsage.

Guests from Beaver, Pa., Sandusky, Cleveland and Leetonia attended the reception in the church dining hall. Geraldine Oyster and Mrs. Fred Leeson, sister of the groom, assisted the guests.

Quakers To Hold Weight Edge Over Lisbon On Friday

Blue Devils Sport Better Season Record

Quaker Lineup Same As Latter Contests; Zeigler Still Out

The Salem Quakers will hold a large weight advantage Friday when they play host to the Lisbon Blue Devils at 7:45 p.m. in Reilly Stadium.

The annual grid contest between the two outfits will give the Quakers nearly a 15-pound edge per man as a team and on the line while the Salem backfield will enjoy a 16-pound edge.

The Blue Devils as a team will average some 155 pounds while the locals will go at 170 pounds per man on the average. The county seat rivals will scale at 157 pounds on the line while their backfield will go at a lighter 152 pounds. Salem's line will scale at 172 pounds with the backfield going at 168 pounds per man.

The traditional battle, the 42nd between the two squads' will give the Quakers the weight edge but the Blue Devils will hold the top record when the two aggregations clash Friday.

The Blue Devils scored their seventh victory of the season Saturday afternoon when they laced Boardman, 25-13, while taking but a single loss and a deadlock. Lisbon scored victories over Cleveland Brooklyn (19-7), Minerva (6-0), East Palestine (26-21), Sebring (27-12), Louisville (14-0), Columbiana (20-12), and Boardman.

The Devils lost their lone game to the Leetonia Bears, 14-7, and were held to a 6-all deadlock by Poland's Bulldogs in the third game of the season.

Meanwhile, the Quakers have compiled a 3-6 record for their nine-game schedule. The locals hold triumphs over Canton Timken (40-20), Wellsville (31-26) and Newton Falls (27-12).

Losses for the Quakers have been administered by Bellaire (44-12), Ravenna (13-7), Youngstown Cheney (8-6), Youngstown South (48-12), Canton Lincoln (32-6), and East Liverpool's Potters (33-6).

PLAYING LEFT END for the Blue Devils will be Dick Bosel, senior letterman. Bosel, a 160-pounder, is a pass catching end as is his partner at right end, Dick Moore. The latter also goes at 160 pounds and is a senior letterman like Bosel.

Bill Jones and Joe Siefke will be at the tackle positions for the Lisbon eleven. Jones is a senior at 170 pounds while Siefke scales at 160 pounds and is a junior. Both gridders are lettermen.

A pair of junior footballers will be playing the guard positions. Jack Liggett and Delbert Carlisle will operate from the next-to-center spots. Both lettermen, Liggett weighs an even 150 pounds while Carlisle goes at 145.

Senior Dick Pike will be at the center spot for the combination T-formation and single wing Lisbon eleven. Pike is a letterman weighing 150 pounds.

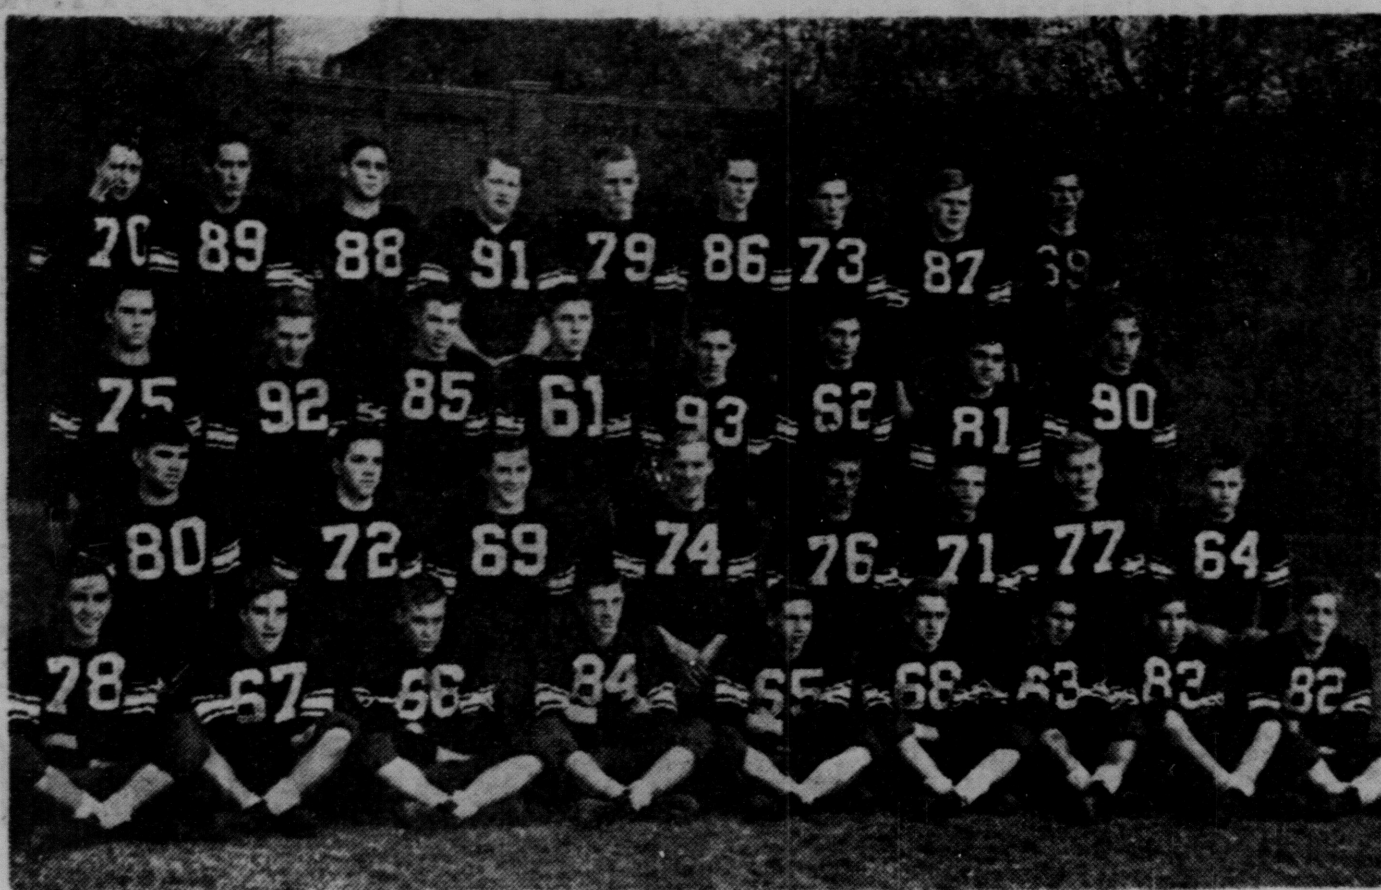

Dick Woods and Dean Nicholson will share the signal calling chores for the Blue Devils. Woods, the starting quarterback, usually runs the squad from the ground while Nicholson is used primarily as a passer.

The latter goes at 190 pounds and stands some 6 foot 7 inches in height. He is a junior letterman. Woods is a senior letterman and goes at 150 pounds.

At the fullback position will be Sonny Utt, a 155-pound junior. Utt is a letterman of last season.

The halfback spots will be filled by Jerry Rose and Vinson Weyant. Weyant is the only non-letterman for the Blue Devils in the starting lineup. He scales at 130 pounds and is speedy.

Rose, brother of Dean Rose who was outstanding against the Quakers in last year's 31-0 defeat, will play the other halfback position. A sophomore, he scales at 170 pounds and is a letterman. However, he isn't the runner that his brother was in the 1951 season.

Weyant is replacing the injured Frank Richardson at the halfback spot. Richardson received an ankle injury in an earlier game and will be out of action.

Other Lisbon players who are bound to see action against the Quakers are Glen Adams, who will play the safety position, and Anzi Hough, who plays an end, kicks off and punts for the visitors. His punting is unusually good.

THE SALEM LINEUP will be the same as in the past two games. Jack Ference, 171-pound senior and John Baker, junior of 170 pounds, will be at the two end positions.

With Jon Zeigler still ailing with a broken foot bone, the left tackle for the Quakers will be filled by Bob Metcalf, 168-pound senior and only non-letterman of the starting eleven. Jim Hrovatic will be playing the other tackle spot. He scales at 177 pounds and is a senior.

The two guards will be Don McCormick and Wayne Ickes, who has been hobbling this week with an injured leg, will undoubtedly get aid from Chuck Harris, fiery sophomore griddier at 157 pounds. Ickes scales at 176 pounds, a senior, and is expected to start the Friday night contest. McCormick weighs 167 pounds, is a senior and co-captain of the squad.

Playing quarterback and calling signals for the T-formation Quakers will be Joe Hrovatic with Ed Mozinga, center, snapping the oval. Mozinga is a junior of 162 pounds while Hrovatic scales at 155 pounds and is a senior. The latter is the passer of the Salem eleven.

Nelson Mellinger will be at the right halfback spot, the speedy co-captain weighing 175 pounds and a senior. The remainder of the backfield is a question and Coach Ben Barrett will make his starting choice later this week.

Bill Crookston has not practiced for two days with the locals because of an infected tooth but he is expected to be in uniform this afternoon. The 172-pound fullback may be ready to start at his position by Friday.

Should Crookston still be out of action Bob Sebo, 152-pound junior, will be in the starting role at fullback. Otherwise the junior letterman will be used at halfback along with George Mordew, a sophomore griddier at 170 pounds and a non-letterman.

Other Salem gridders who undoubtedly will see action are Joe Hajcak and Jimmy Beard at the halfbacks; Bill Megert, 235-pound junior, at tackle; Linebacker Tom Sweteye, and guards Bob Domencetti and Harold Garlock.

Crisler Favors Splitting Districts For TV Football

By HARRY STAPLER

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Athletic Director Fritz Crisler favors this middle-ground plan to settle the squabble over televising of college football games.

Let each of the eight NCAA districts run its own TV-control plan. That would mean eight games on TV each Saturday instead of the single game currently permitted across the nation.

Crisler came up with the regional plan yesterday while the controversy flared anew in New York. In that city Dr. Allen B. Dumont, president of the Allen B. Dumont Laboratories, charged the National Collegiate A. A. television committee is "conducting a monopolistic boycotting operation" in its restricted one-game-a-week program.

Crisler said he did not favor the current program. "We're going to have to live with television from now on and I think we should give television a chance."

"I think we can do it better if we split the program up into eight districts and not go across district lines."

Crisler pointed out that many Midwesterners had no interest in some of the games that have been nationally televised this season, such as Princeton-Columbia and Cornell-Yale.

Crisler made his proposal at a meeting of the Michigan Football Writers Association. Also present was Athletic Director Moose Krause of Notre Dame. Krause joined Crisler in recommending that the NCAA loosen up its restrictions.

Bob McChesney, New York football Giants end, works in an aircraft factory in New York during the off-season.

Midwest Boasts The Best Pass Catching Ends

CHICAGO (AP)—The pace is thinning out Midwest All-America candidates at all positions except ends.

When it comes to grabbing flying footballs out of the air, this territory boasts some of the best—Bernie Flowers of Purdue; Joe Collier of Northwestern; Rocky Ryan and Rex Smith of Illinois, and Paul Dekker of Michigan State.

Defensively, the Midwest is proud of such wingmen as Andy Wozniak of Illinois, Bill Fenton of Iowa, Ed Luke of Michigan State, Bob O'Neill of Notre Dame, Don Voss of Wisconsin and Hosea Sims of Marquette.

Collier already has set a new Big Ten record for yardage on receptions. Flowers is a brilliant target of Dale Samuels' deadly pitches. Ryan and Smith have helped boost Illini quarterback Tommy O'Connell to the nation's No. 2 spot in passing.

At other positions, the Midwest's best seem to be concentrated among these talented lads:

Halfback Paul Giel of Minnesota; quarterback Samuels of Purdue; O'Connell of Illinois and Tom Jewic of Michigan State; all-around halfback Johnny Latner of Notre Dame; linebackers Roger Zatkoff of Michigan and Dick Tamburo of Michigan State; Ray Juizinga, (now injured), and Bob Kennedy, Wisconsin, defensive guard.

Two Middleweights Mix Tonight On TV

DETROIT (AP)—Joey DeJohn and Norman Hayes will interrupt their middleweight title dreams long enough to meet in a 10-round, nationally-televised fight here tonight.

DeJohn, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Hayes, of Boston, are even choices. Each predicts he'll knock the other out. The fight starts at 10 p.m. EST and will be televised by CBS.

Should Sugar Ray Robinson vacate his middleweight championship by retiring shortly—as many expect he will—DeJohn and Hayes have hopes of a crack at the crown.

Hayes, 20, is a ranking contender but he has been defeated in his last three fights—by Jake LaMotta, Ernie Durando and Lee Sala.

DeJohn has fought in pro rings

Michigan State Favored Over Notre Dame This Week

By ROBERT E. VOGES
EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The masses of eager young manpower on tap at Michigan State may be the one thing that will overpower Notre Dame Saturday.

"Spirit is wonderful," said one veteran scout who had seen both teams, "but you have to have the horses."

This year Michigan State has the spirit, the incentive, the horses, and the flock of eager ponies. MSC coach Biggie Munn has been able to play up to 61 men in a single home game. This is more than coach Frank Leahy at Notre Dame had out for football this season. That's the main reason Michigan State is favored to whip Notre Dame three years in a row, something that never happened before to a Leahy-coached team. Munn is also shooting for his 23rd straight victory and one that would almost assure him the mythical national championship. Notre Dame has bounced back amazingly but observers agree the Irish lack depth. Leahy has an inspired first string but does not have the numbers to meet Michigan State's three-platoon offensive backfield and equal depth in the offensive and defensive lines.

Bucks Prepare Against Illini Aerial Attack

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Buckeye football coach Woody Hayes has a problem today: Figuring how to stop Tommy O'Connell, Illinois' tossing quarterback.

The Ohio State squad will travel to Champaign for a Big Ten conference fray Saturday. The game will be the 41st in a series which began in 1902. Ohio State has won 22 of the tilts, lost 15 and tied three.

Hayes used a good chunk of the two and a half hour Tuesday practice devising ways of fighting the Illinois air offense and O'Connell, the ace passer. The senior from Chicago has completed 103 passes in 169 attempts for 1,337 yards this season.

Hayes said Tuesday's workout was only "so-so." It started slowly, after a day of rest, but picked up by the end of the drill.

Physically, the Bucks looked good. Linebacker Doug Goodsell, injured in the Northwestern game two Saturdays ago, finished the practice without complaining of headaches from recent head injuries.

Princeton Grigger 'Back Of Week'

NEW YORK (AP)—Homer Smith, Princeton's old fashioned power-plunging fullback, was named Associated Press "Back of the Week" today for his tremendous ability to do the primary thing with a football—namely, run with it.

Smith was the top back of last Saturday by simply overpowering Harvard in an awesome display of slam-bang football—a contrast to the slick T-formation quarterbacks and speedy, clever halfbacks who often gain the headlines without being hit hard more than a handful of times in a game.

Starting from the first time Princeton got the ball, Smith ripped through the Harvard line for four touchdowns and 273 yards, the greatest running performance by a major college back this year.

Smith, a good-looking, crew-cut youngster from Omaha, Neb., has been president of the class of 1954 for two years. He also won a letter in track last spring.

He had to be good last Saturday to overshadow the other stars.

These included Billy Vessels of Oklahoma who scored three touchdowns before the eyes of the nation's TV fans, and Jack Parker of Mississippi State who had a hand in six touchdowns.

Price Leads Pro League In Yardage

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fullback Eddie Price of the New York Giants has plunged into the lead as top ball carrier in the National Football League on the strength of his performance last Sunday against the San Francisco 49ers. Price gained 106 yards as the Giants downed the 49ers 23-14 to run his season's total to 580 yards—59 better than Hugh McElhenry of San Francisco and 60 better than Don Towler of the Los Angeles Rams.

The Green Bay Packers' Tobin Rote held on to his lead in the league's passing department with an 8.44 average on his 97 attempts good for 819 yards. Vito Parrelli, also of Green Bay, is second, with an 8.06 average, followed closely by Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns, who climbed from sixth to third with an average of 7.80.

Mac Speedie of the Browns, with 42 passes received good for 617 yards, clung to top honors in that section. Soltan, for the second straight week, topped the NFL scorers with 60 points. Lou Groza, the man with the educated toe, was second with 55.

Top punter in the league continues to be Horace Gillom of Cleveland with an average of 48.4 on 40 kicks.

Bobby Shantz Reports Wrist 'Good As New'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The mighty left arm of little Bobby Shantz is out of a cast and as good as new, the 24-game winner reported to his Philadelphia Athletics bosses.

Shantz, whose left wrist was fractured by a pitched ball served up by Walt Masterson of the Washington Senators last Sept. 23, had a few anxious moments, though, after telling Manager Jimmy Dykes the good news yesterday. Dykes and General Manager Art Ehlers, with a few sly winks, eyed Bobby's healed arm suspiciously and hinted that it might be best for the soup-bone to be X-rayed before getting around to talking contract for 1953.

The conscientious Shantz took the kidding seriously and rushed off to Graduate Hospital to have the arm X-rayed. Physicians said it is in perfect condition. What's more, a physical check-up disclosed Bobby now weighs a hulking 149 pounds, 10 pounds more than at the end of last season.

Bowling Green-Ohio U. Game Slated On TV

BOWLING GREEN, O. (AP)—Bowling Green football fans will be able to watch the BG-Ohio University tussle Saturday in the comfort of their living rooms. The National Collegiate Athletic Association has approved televising the game by Toledo station WSPD-TV. Bob Evans, program manager, said WSPD-TV asked permission to telecast the Mid-American Conference game instead of the nationally-televised Alabama-Georgia tilt.

Denies Rumors Of Hayes Getting Denison Job

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of Denison University says his school has no intention of offering an athletic post to Woody Hayes, Ohio State football coach. There have been reports here that Denison might ask the grid mentor to become athletic director. Dr. A. Blair Knapp, Denison president, said on a visit here Tuesday night, however, "Mr. Hayes is not under consideration for any job at Denison."

Hayes is a Denison graduate and served as head football coach there and at Miami before taking the Ohio State job last fall.

BUY YOUR NEXT CAR ON THE BASIS OF ITS RECORD...

The features you want in your car, SAFETY, DURABILITY, PERFORMANCE, are proved in these unbiased tests!

ALMOST every week the make of car you drive is matched with America's other popular makes in open, unbiased competition in stock-car races. One of these races is equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving. Which car, then, based on these unbiased tests, gives you all the qualities you want for the kind of driving you do? The record tells the story.*

Hudson's all-time stock-car record is proof that exclusive "step-down" design (with America's lowest center of gravity) gives you road-hugging stability no other car can touch. That's safety! It proves Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame† is the safest, strongest construction used in any car. That's durability!

Finally, this all-time record shows Hudson's high-compression engine has all the power that you'll ever need to get you out of tight spots. That's performance!

So, stop in and see us. See how it feels to drive America's stock-car champion!

Librarians Talk To Rotary Club

Reserve Officer
Is Kiwanis Speaker

COLUMBIANA—Columbiana public library contains 15,000 books, including 6,000 children's books, and had a circulation of 41,490 among 1,940 borrowers last year, Mrs. R. E. Weaver and Mrs. Virginia Felger, librarians, told the Columbiana Rotary Club Monday evening, at its meeting in Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Interest on a bequest of $23,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Crawford Burt is used to buy books.

Mrs. Weaver, who has been librarian for 16 years, gave a history of the library, which was started in 1932 as a project of the Parent-Teacher Association, and occupied the small building owned by the village adjoining the municipal building.

Mrs. Felger, who has been with the library for eight years and is in charge of the children's department, told of the work of that department and the types of books available for children.

A NUMBER OF the smaller clubs or groups now use the library as a meeting place, and more will be welcome. The speakers were introduced by Hal Johnson, program chairman. The dinner was served by the Women's Guild of Grace Church.

Jack Andrews of Youngstown was a visiting Rotarian; Rev. D. J. Voelm, pastor of Grace Church, was a guest of Leo Hollaway; James Webber a guest of L. A. Way, and Raymond Maurer of Ottumwa, Ia., a guest of his brother, Robert, president of the club.

The meeting next Monday evening will be at the American Legion home, with Ed. Flynn of St. Paul, Minn., former international director of Rotary and former general counsel of the Great Northern Railway, as the speaker.

Commander Melvin Meahl of the Youngstown Naval Reserve was presented by William B. Arn, program chairman, as the speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Monday evening. Recruits for the reserves receive instruction in the Naval schools, said Commander Meahl, including electronics and gunner's mate classes. Boys of 17 to 18½ are accepted as recruits, boys of 17 having deferment from military service as long as they remain with the reserve, and the older boys deferment for one year. He invited visitors to the reserve. Mr. Arn plans to have a film for the meeting next Monday.

Harry McWhorter, visiting Kiwanian from Chicago, was a guest of Harry Daley; Charles Pignolet had his brother, Glenn, and Jack Gulshen, both of Cleveland, as guests, and President L. D. Bair had Charles Koller, Kiwanian from Bellaire, as his guest. Dr. Louis Cosentino of Lisbon was a visiting Kiwanian.

THE COLUMBIANA Youngs will practice in the High School gym at 7 p.m. today. Players who might like to try for the team are invited. Struthers Music Study Club will be a guest of the Columbiana Music Study Club at its meeting in the Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m. today.

The next blood typing session in the High School building will be tomorrow from 6:45 to 8:45 p.m., when those who voted at the Buick garage will be typed.

Leo T. Kissell, aged 29, formerly of Columbiana, who has been a chemist at the Ohio experiment Station near Wooster since 1948, recently received a second prize in art at the College of Wooster, from which he was graduated last year with a major in chemistry. Leo was graduated from Columbiana High School in 1941 and served 38 months with Patton's Third Army in Germany. His wife, Helga, is a German girl he met during the war. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kissell, 609 Fairfield Ave.

Month Rest Suggested For Gov. Stevenson

TAOS, N.M., (U)—The chairman of the Democratic National Committee suggests Adlai Stevenson be given a chance to rest before being asked to make monthly radio-TV talks.

Stephen A. Mitchell who arrived yesterday "to go deer hunting, rest and relax" from general election campaigning, said:

"In due time, we will talk over the possibility of Gov. Stevenson making such appearances. It all depends on Gov. Stevenson's plans. We have been very much impressed by the breadth and extent of interest shown in the possibility of continuing to hear from the governor."

Earlier Stevenson's press aide in Springfield, Ill., said the governor had no comment and does not intend to lay plans until his term is up the end of the year.

Helpful Travel Tips

By HAL BOYLE

LISBON, Portugal (U)—The trouble with foreign travel is that just as you begin to learn something about it you have to start home.

I was thinking about this while standing at the airport here, going through the ritual of clearing customs for the homeward trek. I reached in my topcoat pocket and felt something wet. I pulled it out—it was a bright red washcloth.

"I didn't know where else to put it," explained my wife, Frances. "And I just hated to throw it away."

This experience convinced me that people need a few travel tips—even the best of wives.

I set down here what I have learned:

1. Baggage. No matter how often an airline says a passenger is limited to 6 pounds of baggage it never will convince a wife that it's not fooling. For those last minute extras a wife can find no other place for, a wise husband will always carry a spare paper sack in his pocket—and it will always end up full.

The wise husband will also remain aloof in any argument between his wife and an airline official over the question of excess weight. After all, how does he know his wife is wrong? Maybe the airline scale is broken or inaccurate. Anyway, does he have to go on living with the airline or his wife?

2. Soap and cigarettes. In Europe today it is no longer possible to trade a bar of soap, a piece of chocolate or a package of cigarettes for a genuine $5,000 diamond ring. Do bring along a few extra bars of soap. Many first class hotels expect you to supply your own. Do, also, bring along a few extra packs of cigarettes as gifts, but don't expect them to overwhelm everybody. There actually are many Europeans who prefer other than American brand cigarettes.

3. Black market. The average American tourist feels life has cheated him unless he makes a black market deal during his trip abroad. It's very simple to make one of those deals. Just go to the nearest travel agency. Before you can get through the door a shady character will sidle up to you and (a) offer to change your money at a profit (b) offer to sell you a $15 American fountain pen for $5 and (c) let you have a rare old family cameo brooch.

By the time you get through the door into the travel agency you will find (a) some of the bills he has given you are counterfeit, (b) the fountain pen doesn't work, (c) the cameo is a fraud, and (d) the shady character has vanished.

By and large you can get no more than a 10 per cent edge in black market money dealing in Europe, and your money has a cleaner feeling if you just change it at your hotel or bank.

4. Tips. In Europe every bill you get includes a service charge which is supposed to pay the wage of those who serve you. But this satisfies nobody. All who serve you in any way expect an additional small remembrance from you.

Don't make yourself miserable or ruin your trip worrying about how much you should give or whom you should tip. A simple rule is to tip everybody to whom you have not been formally introduced, but only give them half what you would in America, as it already is on the bill anyway.

Another and even more inexpensive way is simply to open your billfold and hold it out as you pass. Servants' consciences will prevent them from taking as much through avarice as you would give them through ignorance.

5. Customs. Some people are bold enough to clap a piece of rye bread on each end of a live elephant and try to smuggle it through customs as a sandwich. They take pride in trying to beat the customs man. Many travelers complain bitterly about the long-suffering government agents. But I have always found them willing to share a live and let-live policy. The wisest traveler I ever knew said this is the way to deal with customs:

"Tell them firmly, 'I have nothing to declare—absolutely nothing.' And no matter what they say, just stick to your story. When they get tired of listening to you they will let you pass."

Discuss Child's Fears Frankly

Probably every child at one time or another develops some fear which causes him great distress. The child may be afraid of the dark, of dogs or cats, of witches, of hobgoblins, or of almost anything else, real or imaginary.

Such childhood frights should not be tossed off by responsive but because they know the fears are not justified—they are real enough to the child.

Dodge

liaison man with outgoing budget officials is without precedent.

The precise nature of his role may be worked out within the next few days in conferences with Fred- eric J. Lawton, President Truman's budget director, who already has cleared out an office and desk for Dodge's use.

Preparation of the budget, a book the size of a metropolitan tele- phone directory crammed full of detailed figures, already has been under way for months. Dec. 15 is the deadline to start it through the printing presses, and Jan. 17 is the deadline by law for sub- mission to Congress.

Dodge indicates he will sit in for Eisenhower merely to famil- iarize himself with the budget.

Administration officials have in- dicated they will gladly consider any views Dodge would like to ex- press.

In their eyes, here is the broad budget picture Dodge will find as he approaches his job of seeking ways for Eisenhower to fulfill his campaign pledges to reduce what the general called "crazy" federal spending and taxes.

Final recommendations by the Budget Bureau for major items such as military services, foreign aid and atomic energy have not been completed. Lesser figures already have cleared the Budget Bureau and have been approved or are awaiting action by Presi- dent Truman.

Heart Attack Killed Trucker, Coroner Rules

LISBON—Coroner Ernest Sturgis ruled a heart condition caused the death of Frank A. Sweeney, 71, who was found dead in his truck Tuesday morning on Route 164, just northeast of here.

Sweeney resided near Ganders Flat and lived in this area most of his life.

He was born Dec. 14, 1880 at Akron, a son of George and Jen- nie Vile Sweeney. He was a mem- ber of the Christian Church and the Masonic lodge.

be presented for ratification by the 46-man CIO executive board which meets in Pittsburgh Friday. Ap- proval is a foregone conclusion.

The Executive Board is com- posed of the nine vice presidents, plus elected representatives from the numerous CIO unions.

Murray's successor will be elected at the convention, but any board suggestion will carry much weight.

Reuther arrived in Pittsburgh last night, but he had nothing to say about seeking the job of union president.

Others prominently mentioned for the post are James B. Carey, 41, president of the electrical work- ers, and Allan Haywood, 66-year- old CIO executive vice president. Reuther and Carey are vice presi- dents.

Any one of the other six vice presidents could be considered pos- sible choices. They are:

Emil Rieve of the textile work- ers; L. S. Buckmaster of the rub- ber workers; Joseph A. Beirne, communication workers; Joseph Curran, maritime workers; Mi- chael Quill, transport workers; Frank Rosenblum, clothing work- ers, and O. A. Knight, oil workers.

The funeral home where Mur- ray's body is lying in state said a steady stream of persons from all walks of life passed the CIO leader's casket yesterday.

A requiem high Mass will be sung at 11 a.m. EST tomorrow in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Burial will be in St. Anne's Ce- metery at nearby Castle Shannon, a one-time mining community.

Wall Street

Stock Market Goes Upward Unevenly

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks resumed their unevenly upward trend in moderately active trading in to- day's market.

Most of the gains were small, while some of the pivotal groups such as steels and oils were mixed or lower.

Initial demand developed among the railroad section, while radio- television issues came to the fore a bit later.
